

ABSTRACT

A housing for holding at least one light source. The housing has a front wall with an exterior side and an opposed interior side, a first wall extending from the front wall, and one or more support elements for locating said at least one light source in the housing. Each support element extends from the interior side of the front wall.

[WAT_LAW\106306\8]